Live With Passion Live With Passion

Students at Emerson College do this every day. It is with passion that we move through life, working towards that perfect grade, or that prize-winning story. Whether it is for film, radio, books, magazines, journalistic endeavors, politics or the stage, students here prove that they have the passion to be successful. Through our work we share new experiences, test our limits, and push each other's boundaries. The adventures we take; to Kastle Well, LA, or even just to Chinatown for a snack, bring us together in ways we never thought possible. Through great friendships and shared goals we drive one another, creating bonds that will last long after commencement.

Our successes are tangible, both in and out of the classroom. When we work together, Emerson students don't just make dreams come true, we make them come alive. Our films, magazines, TV shows—all the creative work we do—is beyond compare. We are comedians, athletes, actors and directors, writers and artists; not in the future, but right now. We are the communicators, the powerhouses, and the leaders of today, bringing innovation to communication, the arts, and the world at large.

Shaken, Not Stirred

Much like James Bond, the Class of 2007 enjoys things shaken up. We don't blend in, we are leaders, and many of us crave the spotlight. We are a class that won't be forgotten, and our legacy will remain long after we have left this school, and this city. Our four (or so) years here were memorable, both for us and the college community at large. We have seen this school through some huge changes. The end of the dance major, leaving the West Side, and the start of the new "Campus on the Common". Emerson will never be the same again.

YOU ONLY INTERN TWICE

Where did you intern and why did you like it?

Lindsay Daly:

"I interned at PASSIONS on NBC. My boss knew I didn't have a lot of experience, so he let me observe everything. It's actually because of him I got my other internship. He gave me the intangibles, like how to act around celebrities and where to stand at photo shoots. The best part of my Bruins internship is that the supervisor had me doing worthwhile things like writing press releases, interviewing players, going to practices and games, press conferences and everything."

Amy Cherry:

"I interned at WBZ Newsradio 1030 (CBS Radio), in Boston, and it was so awesome, that I'm now employed there as a writer for the Afternoon Drive. It doesn't get much better than that!!!"

Gray Malin:

"I interned at Warner Brothers and Paramount in the financial district. Even though it was a marketing internship, those film kids would have drooled over all the free stuff we got at work!"

Jennifer Davis:

"I interned at the Citi Performing Arts Center for the Education Department. I work as a Teaching Artist Assistant with their East Boston Neighborhood Ensemble. It's been a great way to apply class work in real context. It's like low-key student teaching where I get to try new things out and still have class time to discuss potential problems, rejoice in moments of student exploration and improvement."

Tyler MacLeod:

"I was a Baseball Operations intern with the Pittsburgh Pirates rookie team, the Bradenton Pirates. I was able to write game summaries for the Pirates and make broadcasting connections with play-by-play announcers."

Abigail Lapham:

"I'm interning currently at the Ellen DeGeneres Show. I loved the fact that everything was hands-on and I was able to work in an Emmy Award winning production office before I've even graduated college!"

Catherine Parrotta:

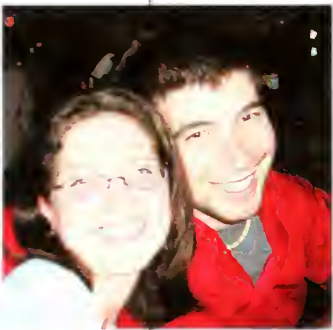

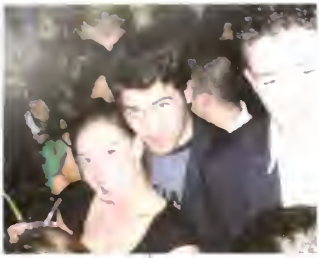

"I interned at WCVB-TV for two summers. It was wonderful because it gave me hands-on experience in a professional news environment, which prepared me to successfully find a job in my chosen field."

Michael Sohcot:

"I interned at Level 3 Post, a post-production facility that does the online editing for current television shows including 24, Scrubs and The Simpsons. So even though East Coasters saw the shows three hours ahead of me, I saw it months before them."

Internships at Emerson come in all shapes and sizes, and one of the best ways of finding them is through the Internship Fair, held this year at the Courtyard Marriot Hotel and hosted by Career Services office. They are great at assisting students in locating the right internship and working on your resumes. At left, the Spring Internship Fair brought in students from every major at Emerson, with representatives from film groups, publishing houses, marketing firms and more. With a few refreshments to get everyone through the Fair, and Career Services reps outside to give a few pointers, students were good to go for their next interview.

Left: Emerson students hang together outside of their internships, playing games, barbecuing in the California sun, and getting to know one another.

Right: The LA students spent a lot of time checking out the sites, and the infamous LA club scene.

Below: Many active students spent time outdoors, playing football, going skating, or hanging at the beach.

License to a Shoot: LA Internships

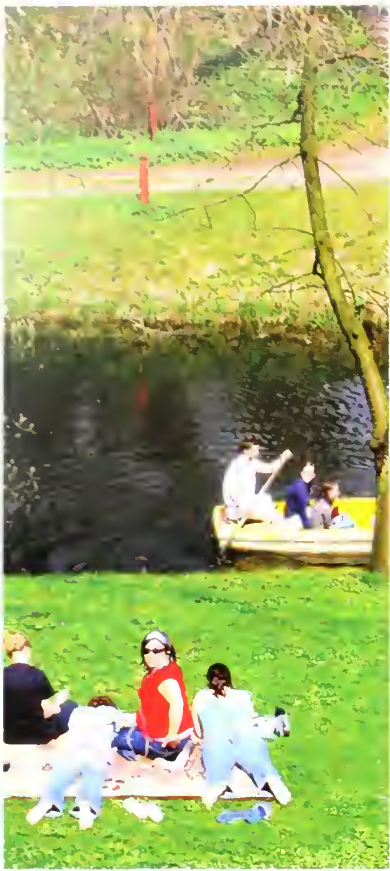

A. City of celebrities, Hollywood, and fun in the sun. This massive hub is the home of Emerson's largest internship program. This is where many film and television students head in order to see what the business is really like. The program holds about 100 students each semester, mostly seniors who are about to graduate; and it is a great stepping stone for a career in the industries.

Tinsle Town is also a great place for students to explore, and the warm weather all-year-round makes for a great place to hang out. Students in the program make sure to check out all the tourist sites, including the Kodak Theater, home of the Oscars, Rodeo Drive, and Dodgers Stadium. For most, it is a semester they will never forget.

Left: LA students also had a great time working on their tans and finding the best spots to grab some grub.

Kasteel Well. The home away from home for students wishing to travel abroad. When students leave Boston to spend the semester in the Netherlands, they never know quite what to expect. What they find is a beautiful castle filled with history, and the adventure of a lifetime. These students live in the various parts of the castle for the semester, taking weekends and travel-breaks to tour Europe, seeing everything they possibly can in about 14 weeks. Must see's while in Europe? Some students will say Paris, or Madrid, Ireland or Italy, but when push comes to shove, Kasteel Well is where everybody wants to be in the end.

From Kasteel, With Love

Unlike what most people say, adjusting to life at Kasteel Well is not difficult at all! Students quickly break open their suitcases and set out to explore. This is where people will find friends that will stick with them long after they leave the Netherlands, and where they will see sights that broaden their minds more than any book ever could.

The administration, faculty, and staff at Emerson College are extremely unique, enthusiastic people, and they always help

Student Life at Emerson College

For many students, life at Emerson begins in the residence halls. This is where students begin to build the bonds of friendship that will carry them through their four years in college. Life in the Little Building is fun, boisterous, and often crazy. As the largest residence hall on campus, its bound to get a little wild from time to time. Students have no problem socializing here, with roughly 75 students on each floor, there are plenty of people to meet, tons of friends to find. The bonds of this building are tight. Residents of the LB will be the first to say that its the best place for them to be. Students hang together in their common rooms, putting together events like Project Hallway, or working through the LB Hall Council to plan Hallweekend and the Common Room Decorating Contest. These residents have no shortage of spirit. Neither do their RA's. Residence Directors Dan McAvey and Mike Ferrara have their hands full with this building.

Above Right: Students in the Little Building, Caitlin and Sasha, spend some time in the hall, practicing for an upcoming performance.

Right: The Little Building Residence Hall staff show off their spirit. The Resident Assistants are joined by Resident Directors Dan McAvey and Mike Ferrara.

What's your favorite part of being an RA?

RA Eric Tollar:

"Not having to worry about housing is great, plus I get to work at a job that I really enjoy."

RA Stefanie Lynch:

"RA camp and having a great group of people as a support network."

RA Carolyn Meade:

"Getting to know and work with a group of responsible and dedicated leaders."

RA Kerem Bursin:

"Getting to meet a whole lot of new people."

RA Rachael Levy:

"Meeting tons of interesting new people that I wouldn't typically meet."

RA Rachel Desilets:

"Getting to know my residents and the other RA's."

Life in Piano Row

Left: Groups of students find new ways to bond with one another: a little takeout and a lot of great conversation.

Piano Row. The newest building on campus, and home to Emerson's second residence hall. This is where the other half (of on campus students) lives. Piano Row is also the home of the Max Mutchnick Campus Center, and the gymnasium. There is also the Common's Cafe, and the offices of the Dean of Students and Student Life. But it is the residents that make this building so unique. Here, rooms are suite-style, giving residents more privacy and a chance to hang out with one another. This is where the new STAR floors and the Writer's Block and Performing Cultures floors reside. Students in this new building enjoy the comforts of a common room and private bathrooms, a giant laundry room on the main level, and though all the kinks may not be worked out quite yet (who would have expected a flood) students agree that it is a great place to live.

Exploring Mutchnick

Piano Row is also home to the new Campus Center, named after alumnus Max Mutchnick, whose generous contributions led to its completion. After the Campus Center opened, students were keen to explore and see this new hang-out that replaced our Student Union. The Campus Center includes the Student Life and the Dean of Students' offices, as well as a quiet lounge, meeting rooms and the new Commons Cafe; the main level houses student meeting rooms, the lobby, access to the residence hall, and the Multi-purpose room which is used to host some incredible events by student organizations and college departments. These events included the Multicultural Banquet and the Night at the Campus Center. Level one, below the main level, is home to student organization offices, including EIV, SGA, EmComm and more. It also holds the Campus Center's largest meeting room and three piano rooms. Continuing downstairs students can visit the athletic offices and the gymnasium, used with great success by the volleyball and basketball teams this season.

Below Left: Groups of students were lined up during this event to see the incredible balloon man, part of a circus troupe on campus, who made the most creative balloon animals imaginable. Everything from horses to facemasks, these balloons were the most popular item of the night!

Meagan Fish:

Beacon Hill and specifically Beacon Hill Chocolates. I live right off of Charles Street and across my stoop was my senior year downtown—dark chocolate covered raspberries. The women who work there know me by my first name and came to learn that the more chocolate I bought the longer the paper I was writing that night!

Emily Patrick:

Hanging out with friends, cooking, feeling like a grown up, coming home when I want.

Missa Bazillion:

There are so many reasons I love living off campus, but I'll start with the small stuff...having a bathroom you can leave your stuff in, closet space, and candles. More important than those things, my apartment has become my home, where I don't have to move in the summer, I can cook dinner for my friends, and I can decorate however I want. Not to mention we have an amazing roof-deck."

Mark Meagher:

"My favorite part of being off campus was freedom. The dorms were always very strict and it never really felt like I lived in Boston. It was my room in my apartment, regardless of the quality of the dwelling. It was still the first place in Boston I could call home."

Samuel Leroy:

"The freedom of living off campus; eating your own food, having your own cable setup."

What's your favorite part of living off campus?

Shawn Elise Tierney:

"Riding the Red Line over the Charles from Cambridge sets my mood every day. I love having a place of my own to go back to at the end of the day and the freedom to do whatever I want. Also there's the double-sized bed, no quiet hours, a full kitchen and the ability to cook."

Lauren von Hagel:

"Simple: the freedom. Nobody's there looking over your shoulder to make sure you 'behave.'"

"My favorite part of living off-campus is that I can leave school behind and retreat to a place that is separate from classwork, organizational responsibilities and hundreds of other students. Having my own apartment gives me peace of mind."

Nick Bragg:

"My favorite part of living off campus is the fact that I don't run into my professors when I skip class."

Above: Students enjoy their time in their apartments, hanging out together, listening to music, and savoring the freedom of off campus life.

Right: The North End is one of the most popular parts of the city for Emerson students to live in. With all the delicious food shops, creative architecture, and interesting people, it draws students like flies to honey.

Above Left: Living off campus allows many students to invite friends over for large parties or gatherings. Many fraternities and sororities host Greek events that would be too large to fit students in residence hall rooms. Above Right: Junior Dan Petrino makes cooking look so easy, and appetizing!

As we know, most of the student body cannot remain in the residence halls for their entire Emerson career. Many upperclassmen move off campus sometime between sophomore and senior year. But where to live? There are some students who prefer the atmosphere of the North End, with its great restaurants and bakeries, while others take to the quieter streets of the South End or Southie (except on St. Patrick's Day, of course). Many students chose the less expensive areas of Allston or Brighton and still more opt for the almost suburban style living of Brookline's Coolidge Corner. Though spread out across Boston's vast niches, students agree that adjusting to off campus life is neither as easy or hard as it might first appear. And the added freedom is no small token either. Emersonians learn to cook, clean, and care for themselves, and meet people that they might never have found otherwise. This rich experience might not be for every student, but most find that they adjust after a little time. Off campus life provides new chances to meet people, bond with roommates, and have fun in ways that are not possible on campus.

The Living Daylights

Choosing where you live is one of the best parts about living off campus. Above are different locations around Boston, while below, Emersonian staffer, Megan Cooper samples some coffee from Lulu's Bake Shoppe.

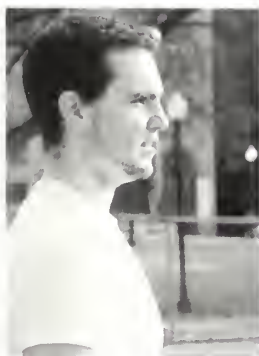

What's your favorite spot in the city and why?

Rebecca Lear:

"The Christian Science Center Reflecting Pool. It has the most beautiful view of the city."

Nick Pereira:

"My favorite spot in the city is a spot in the garden where you can see the statue of that guy on the horse, west by Arlington Street, with skyscrapers in the background. It's pretty at night."

Elizabeth Howard:

"Brattle Bookshop because it's so old and unique and rambling and they have such a good selection of books and when they have sales it's so CHEAP! I've purchased 30 books for like 20 bucks. There's no other bookstore like it."

Suzy Davis:

"My favorite part of the city is standing on Longfellow Bridge, looking towards the Pru. It's gorgeous to see the city from there during sunset, and late at night the buildings' lights reflect in the Charles, it's so pretty."

Jamal Barone:

"The walkways and tiny alleys of Beacon Hill where I feel like I'm transported through London and parts of Venice. It's incredible."

Meg Cassidy:

"My favorite spot in the city is Harvard Square because it is home to some of the cutest and most eclectic stores as well as some of the best French fries ever! (Mr. & Mrs. Bartley's Burger Cottage)"

Dave Bartlett:

"Fenway Park. There really is no other place like it, even with all its annoyances and imperfections."

Dunja Simunovic:

"The Esplanade or a rooftop-- it makes the city seem large and personal at the same time."

Kevin McKeon:

"My favorite part of the city is the South End. It's a very beautiful and cultured area that is alive with great restaurants, boutique shops, and theater."

Above: Students enjoy different things to do in the city, from playing on the North End playgrounds, to walking along the Charles, or playing pool downtown.

Right: The Oyster House is one of the most famous restaurants in Boston, and self-proclaimed as the Oldest Restaurant in America, established in 1826. It is home to some of the best seafood in the city.

One of the best parts of going to school at Emerson is living in the city, in Boston. There is so much to do and see, and each place brings special memories and meanings to the students who visit and live here. The unique atmosphere is what makes Boston such a great choice for so many different students every year. Here is a city with history, culture, sports, the high life, the low life...You name it, we've probably got it. Students at Emerson love to take time to explore their surroundings, because they can happen upon some of the most interesting places. Shopping, theater, clubs, music, and more all await the Emerson student. Exploration is one of the best parts of college life at Emerson.

Goldfingers: Boston's Current Events

The 2006-2007 school year at Emerson saw a ton of interesting and sometimes life-changing events. Students were encouraged not only to get to know their school, but also their city, and Emerson students took up that challenge with enthusiasm. Our student journalists covered events like the election of Massachusetts' new governor, Deval Patrick, and the gay marriage debates that raged on up at the Statehouse. Many Emerson activists got involved in these highly political events, working on campaigns or helping get voters registered and to the polls. Emerson always has an impact on the community, in large and small ways. Besides the involvement of the students, there was also the opening of the new Emerson Barnes & Noble bookstore, and the groundbreaking of the new Paramount Center, set to open in 2009. As a school and as individuals we immerse ourselves in the Boston community, remembering that we are part of a larger world that deserves our attention just as much as our schoolwork does. Most students have their fingers in pieces of several pies, both in the Emerson and the Boston community, and what we touch, we hope will turn to gold.

Above: President Leibergott officially opens Emerson's new bookstore, and the Barnes & Noble will house not only textbooks but a large trade books selection for the Boston community to enjoy.

Right: Senior broadcast journalism major Catherine Parrotta reports from the governor's election headquarters for WEBN news, one of the schools many news programs.

Below Left: Senior broadcast journalism major Glenn Hyatt works with Catherine taping the show. Their team worked alongside professional stations like channels 5, 7 and Fox News.

Be Warned: you are about to enter the Lion's Den. Emerson athletes are fierce competitors, kicking...you know what, and taking

Men's Soccer

Kicking off Emerson's fall athletics season were the soccer teams and the men's team finished their season with a record of 12-6-1. They made it to the GNAC Championship Tournament, but lost in overtime of the First Round to Suffolk University. Emerson center midfielder Cody Schram (Sr., Durham, NH) was named to the Great Northeast Athletic Conference 2006 Men's Soccer All-Conference Team. Schram was a first-team pick for the second consecutive year, while forward Will Sagar (Sr., Arlington, VA), midfielder Ryan Polisenio (Jr., Hanover, MA), and defender Steve Francis (So., Congers, NY) were second team picks. Schram led Emerson in scoring with 12 goals and eight assists for 32 points in 19 games.

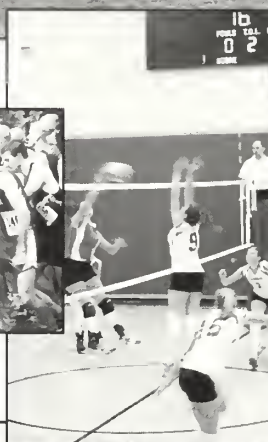

Emerson's Lady Lions had an amazing season as well, with a record of 8-8-1. They also made it to the GNAC Conference Championships, but lost in the First Round to Western New England College. Four of these fierce players were named to the Great Northeast Athletic Conference 2006 All-Conference team. Midfielder Stacey Ambrose (Sr., Londonderry, NH) and forward, Casey Whalen (Jr., Great Barrington, MA) were first team picks, while defender Erica Coray (Sr., Ashburn, VA) and midfielder Katie Franzio (First-year, Henderson, NA) were second team picks. Ambrose and Whalen tied for fourth on the Lions in scoring, each netting five goals and three assists. Franzio was the team's leading scorer with 21 points on seven goals and seven assists. Coray, who was a first team pick as a midfielder in 2005, was the team's top defender and also added three assists on the season.

Women's Soccer

Men's & Women's Cross Country

Both the Men's and Women's Cross Country teams performed above and beyond this year, finishing seventh place or better in all of their meets this season. John Weselcouch (Sr., Fairfield, CT) and freshman Collin Gately (Fr., Deerfield, NH) earned spots on the Great Northeast Athletic Conference Men's Cross Country All-Conference team by virtue of their finishes in the GNAC Championship race on October 28. Weselcouch finished fifth in the 82 person field with a time of 29:59 over the 8,000 meter course. His pace translates to a 6:00 mile. Gately finished 17 seconds behind Weselcouch and finished seventh in the meet. On the women's team, Ariel Tweto (FY, Anchorage, AK) earned both the Rookie of the Year and All-Conference honors from the GNAC by virtue of her second place finish at the Women's Cross Country Championship. Tweto covered the 5,000 kilometer course in 21:09 at a pace of 6:50 per mile. The top finisher among first-year runners, Tweto ended the race only six seconds behind the Conference champion. As a team, Emerson finished fourth in the eight team field.

The Emerson Women's Volleyball team christened the new Piano Row Gymnasium this year, and finished with a record of 9-13. Seniors Kelly Hogan (Salem, NH) and Alex Porteshawver (Davenport, Iowa) were both named to the Great Northeast Athletic Conference Volleyball All-Conference second team. Hogan was honored by the GNAC for the fourth time in her career, and Porteshawver improved on her third-team performance from the 2005 season. Porteshawver led the Lions in kills and kills per game. Hogan led the team in attack attempts and service aces and was second in blocks. Each player started all 80 games for the Lions.

Women's Volleyball

Men's Basketball

The Men's Basketball team at Emerson had an amazing season in their new gym, finishing with a record of 16-8 in the regular season. They went on to play in the first round of the Eastern College Athletic Conference New England Division III Tournament. Because of their great record they were the third seeded team, and they lost in the end to the sixth seeded Curry College. Players Bryan Rouse (Fr., East Greenwich, RI) and Will Dawkins (Jr., Springfield, MA) were named to the Great Northeast Athletic Conference 2007 All-Conference team. Rouse was named the GNAC Rookie of the Year and was a first team selection. Dawkins was a second team pick for the second consecutive year. Rouse, a center, was the second leading scorer in the GNAC at 23.5 points per game. He led the Conference in shooting percentage, connecting on over 57% of his shots from the field. Dawkins was Emerson's second leading scorer at 15.2 points per game from his guard position and was the second leading rebounder with an average of 5.5 each contest. He led the team in assists (86), steals (53), and minutes played at 35 per game.

These lady Lions performed incredibly well in their new habitat, finishing their season with a record of 16-10. Player Maude Okrah (So., Rutland, MA) and head coach Melissa Hart were each honored on the Great Northeast Athletic Conference women's basketball All-Conference team. Okrah, a guard, was a second team selection based on voting from the conference women's basketball coaches, and Hart was named the Conference Coach of the Year by her peers. Okrah was Emerson's leading scorer at 10.7 points per game. She shot just under 49% from the field during the year and averaged 4.6 rebounds. One of the top defenders in the Conference, Okrah had 41 steals and five blocks. She also dished out 24 assists. Hart was named Coach of the Year after guiding Emerson to a program best 16-10 record and fifth place in the final conference standings. The Lions won six more games in 2006-2007 than in the previous year. The team numbered 15 women, and had a GNAC Record of 7-4.

Women's Basketball

Women's Lacrosse

The Women's Lacrosse team played with intensity during their season, with a final record of 6-6, 3-4 in the New England Women's Lacrosse Alliance. Midfielder Keri Angus (Sr., Coventry, RI) and goal keeper Kelly Johnson (FY, Birmingham, AL) were both named to the New England Women's Lacrosse Alliance All-Conference team. Angus, who was a first-team pick for the second consecutive year, set school single season scoring records in 2007 for Emerson with 36 goals in 11 games. Her season point total of 42 was also an Emerson record. She is the leading scorer in Emerson women's lacrosse history with 63 goals and 10 assists for 73 points. She also set the single game record for goals scored with eight against Westfield in early April. Johnson, a second team pick, stepped into the net for the Lions and started all 12 games compiling a 6-6 record. She gave up an average of 11.33 goals per game with a save percentage of .462. She averaged 9.75 saves per game and compiled a 6-6 record.

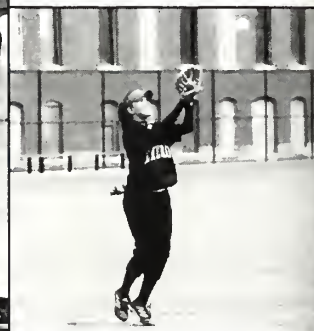

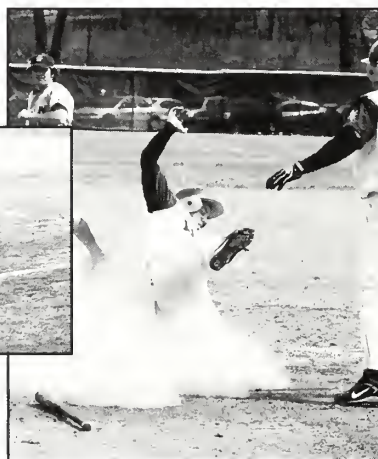

The Men's Lacrosse team played a great season, finishing up with a record of 5-7, 3-4 in the NAC. Three players and head coach Mike Blanchard were honored by inclusion on the North Atlantic Conference All-Conference team. Goalie Dean Smollar (So., Fairfax, VA) and midfielder Jake Frank (So., Bethany, CT) were first team selections, while defenseman Josiahs Porter (Fr., Newton, MA) was a second team pick. Blanchard was selected by his peers as the Conference Coach of the Year. Additionally, the team was named co-winner of the NAC Sportsmanship Award. Smollar played every minute of the season for the Lions. An honorable mention selection in 2006, Smollar is ranked third in the nation in Division III save percentage, stopping 66.8% of the shots taken against him. He is also ranked 47th in the country in goals against average, surrendering 8.75 goals per game. Frank led the team in scoring with 18 goals, 13 assists, and 31 points and led the team with two game winning goals and six man-up goals, and was third on the Lions in ground balls with 28. Porter started 11 of the team's 12 games. Often given the task of stopping the opposition's best attackman, he led the team in ground balls.

Men's Lacrosse

Baseball

The Men's Baseball team had an interesting season, with a rough start during spring training, they came back to finish their season with a record of 7-19. First baseman Bryan Fennessey (Jr., East Greenwich, RI) was named to the Great Northeast Athletic Conference baseball all-conference second team. Fennessey, who started all 26 of the team's games, led the Lion regulars in batting average while hitting .333. He was also number one on the team in home runs (3), RBI (13), slugging percentage (.526) and on base percentage (.430). He fielded 176 chances while making only five errors all season for a fielding percentage of .972. He also made two pitching appearances.

The Women's Softball team had an incredible season, finishing with an 18-15 record, before moving on to win the GNAC Conference championship. They then continued on to make Emerson College history by becoming the first team invited to the NCAA Championship Tournament. No fewer than six different players have been selected for individual honors representing six different conference or regional teams, including the GNAC All-Tournament Team, GNAC All-Stars, the GNAC All-Conference Team, the All-Northeast pick by the National Fastpitch Coaches Association (NFCA), the New England Softball Coaches Association (NESCA), and the ESPN: The Magazine Academic All-District Team. Third baseman Lindsay DeStefano (Jr., Glocester, RI), lead the list with selections to five different teams, Bridget Farago (FY, Oneonta, NY) was named to four different teams, Jen Boyden (Sr., Chester, NH), Heather Drobiarz (Sr., Old Saybrook, CT), and Catie McDonough (So., North Adams, MA), each have been honored by two organizations. Also selected was pitcher Angela Jorgensen (Jr., Dayton, Iowa). Emerson finished the season with a 24-18 record and was ranked seventh in New England in the final NESCA poll.

Softball

Women's Tennis

The Women's Tennis team performed well this season, finishing off the year with a record of 6-6. Player Kayleigh Holt (FY., Somerset, MA) was named the Great Northeast Athletic Conference Rookie of the Week for the week ending October 8. Holt was 4-0 during the week defeating her opponent from Pine Manor College at number 1 singles (7-5, 6-3), and her opponent at number 2 singles against Newbury College (6-0, 6-2). In doubles Holt and her partner won 8-0 at the number two spot versus Pine Manor, and with a different partner teamed to take the number 1 doubles point against Newbury 8-5. Additionally, Lauren Wilson (FY., Calabasas, CA) was named to the Great Northeast Athletic Conference Weekly Honor Roll for her play the week ending October 1. During the week Wilson was 2-0 at the second singles position. She defeated her opponent from Mitchell College in three sets (7-5, 3-6, 6-0) and the player from Emmanuel College in straight sets (6-2, 6-0).

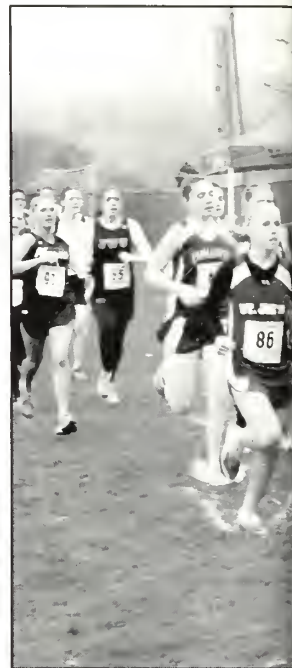

The men's tennis team played a great season, with a final record of 6-4. Aman Kapur was named GNAC Player of the Year, and Varun Kapur and Matt McKinney were also honored. Number one singles player, Aman Kapur (Jr., Lima, PERU) has been named the Great Northeast Athletic Conference Tennis Player of the Year in balloting conducted by the conference head coaches. Kapur had a perfect 7-0 record in singles during the year and was 6-1 in doubles play for the Lions. In singles play, only one of his matches went three sets, and he surrendered only 32 games all season while winning 88 for a winning percentage of .733. This is the fourth consecutive year that Emerson has had the GNAC Player of the Year. Kapur's teammates Matt McKinney (So., Muncie, IN) and Varun Kapur (Fr., Lima, Peru) were also named to the GNAC All-Conference team as second team picks. McKinney had a 2-0 singles record and was 2-1 in doubles. He teamed with Aman Kapur for half the season at first doubles. Varun Kapur was Emerson's #2 singles player where he compiled a 5-2 record. He was also 4-2 in doubles play in both the first and second doubles flights.

Men's Tennis

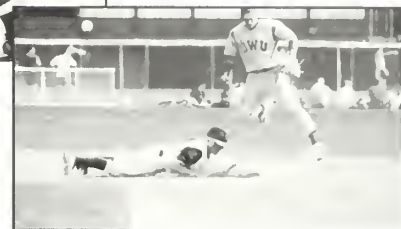

Emerson hockey was new this year, as many students gathered together to form a team and joined a club league, playing against schools like Berklee College of Music and others around the New England area. This team drew a lot of fans from the school to their games, increasing students' interest in athletics both on and off campus. Students traveled out to UMASS Boston, and BU to watch this team skate to victory. The team was made up of students from every class, freshmen through seniors and with the support they received, it looks like they are here to stay.

Club and Intramural Sports...

The Emerson College Wiffleball League completed its third year in 2007, with students coming out for the 8 teams in the league. Started during the 2004-2005 school year, this league has grown enormously since then, and students have gone to great lengths to keep it going. At the end of each season, in both the spring and fall, the top teams from each of the two divisions compete in playoff series, and the winners of each division compete in the Wiffleball World Series. The league has commissioners and at the end of each season, awards are given out to the best pitchers and players in the league. While most of the founding members have now graduated, the league is going strong and will last for many more years.

Student Clubs and Organizations at Emerson College

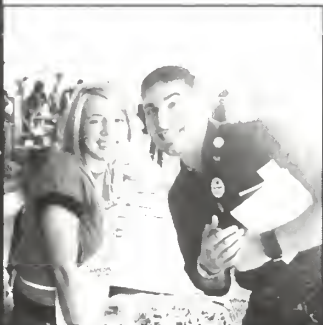

The 2006 Org Fair:

Take Action. Get Involved, Stay Involved.

At the beginning of every year, Emerson's 60 plus student groups gather to recruit incoming and returning students to their organizations. They are looking for enthusiastic minds and eager voices. From WERS to SGA, the Musical Theater Society to the Emerson Review, Emerson students have endless possibilities to get involved.

This year's Org. Fair was a great success. The Fair convened on a sunny autumn day on the Boston Common. Students were able to take time in between classes to come check out the amazing things each organization had to offer. Creative outlets of all kinds were made available to students, and there was no shortage of freebies for the students to take with them. Candy, fun little toys and gifts, and copious amounts of pens were thrust into students' hands as they passed by each booth. No matter which clubs or organizations they signed up for, the underlying theme was that Emerson students are involved in their school and community. The point is to find your passion, and run with it!

The Senior Class of 2007 went through several transitions this year, with new class officers coming in at the start of the spring semester. Yet in spite of all the changes they went through, the class officers managed to plan an amazing Senior Week, Senior Send-Off, and ran their class responsibly, and with more than a little bit of sass.

Class of 2007

Class of 2008

The Junior Class of 2008 is revved up and ready for action, as you can clearly see. They are full of fun and spunk, and along with their Advisor Jana, have had an amazing year putting on their Junior Week and other activities, including a Dinner at the Diner Series and the Montreal Trip. They also began putting out a monthly newsletter for the Junior Class to keep up with all their events. They also have their hands full beginning the preparations for their senior year next year.

Class of 2009

The Sophomore Class of 2009 doesn't hold anything back. They made a splash this year with their successful Condom Awareness Week, and creative trivia events like 90's Night. Their events are not only a ton of fun, but they are also very informative and helpful to the student body as a whole. They bring the house down in whatever they do.

Class of 2010

The Freshman Class of 2010, also known as "The Supreme Government of 2010" started their college careers off with a bang, as the hosts of Casino Night, co-sponsored by the SGA. These freshman rocked their supremacy, acting as dealers and handing out prizes at the end of the night. This group of involved individuals are just a few of a class of students to watch out for.

AMIGOS

Emerson's Latino organization is dedicated to creating awareness of the Latino community at Emerson, to share the differences within Latino cultures, and to serve the Latino community in the greater Boston area. AMIGOS is a multicultural group which welcomes everyone, Spanish-speaking or not, who would like to learn about its many cultures. This year they worked hard to plan several events promoting Latino culture at Emerson, including Salsa Dance lessons during Diversity Week and planning the Multicultural Banquet at the end of the year.

Emerson's Asian Students for Intercultural Awareness (ASIA) was officially recognized as of Spring 1993. This organization was founded to provide awareness of the vast cultures present within the Asian community. ASIA is dedicated to becoming an active member in the varied social events of the Emerson community, which they did this year during Diversity Week, with the combined efforts of AMIGOS and EBONI, and during the Multicultural Banquet at the end of the year.

Chocolate Cake City

This group serves as a creative outlet for writers, actors, film and production students working to unite all Emerson College majors to produce comedy shows. The aim is to explore the many forms of comedy and thus create a varied, original and most importantly, funny show. This year's fall and spring shows (A Gift of Life and Where in the World is Carmen Sandiego) were both a smashing success and the members of Chocolate Cake City were able to showcase their talents not only at Emerson, but also in the comedy clubs of New York City.

The Communication, Politics and Law Association at Emerson College (CPLA-Emerson) was founded to foster interest and involvement in local, national and global politics and policy. Using Emerson's network of alumni with careers in and ties to politics, the students have, and will continue to make, an impact in the social and political realms. This year CPLA hosted many political events on campus, including a viewing of the State of the Union Address and the Gubernatorial Debates, and they attended trips to Washington D.C. and New York City to engage in regional and national politics.

Emerson's Alliance for Gays Lesbians and Everyone (EAGLE) was established to promote visibility and acceptance of queer culture throughout the campus and community. The group sponsors social, academic and awareness functions for the community on issues relevant to queer culture, and this year held many successful events promoting diversity throughout the school. This year EAGLE organized and ran an extremely successful Dragtoberfest a couple weeks before Halloween, and was one of the biggest sponsors of Flomotive II, an event that promotes an interest in the diversity of culture in Boston.

Kappa Gamma Chi

Founded at Emerson in 1902, Kappa is committed to serving the College and local community. This Sisterhood fosters the ideal of nurturing professional, strong and independent women. The Sisters expect and demand the highest and best standards for every active member. Kappa feels responsibility has been potent in making the society count as a valuable asset to the school, and indeed their Take Back the Night series, along with all their other work at Emerson have been a great success.

LIFE

Founded in 1902, Phi Alpha Tau is the nation's oldest professional communicative arts fraternity. Originally created to foster debate, Tau has evolved with Emerson over the past 100 years to include all areas of the communicative arts. The fraternity gives the Joseph E. Connor Award to outstanding leaders in the communicative arts and hosts the Public Conversation, including this year's recipient; Boston's Mayor Menino.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon national fraternity was colonized as local chapter Phi Alpha on April 22, 1999 after a 13 year formation period. Sigma Alpha Epsilon brings a 143 year tradition of serving its member schools and communities through various social and charitable endeavors. This newest edition to Emerson's Greek system further strengthens an already vibrant Greek life on campus.

Sigma Pi Theta has emerged as a support group for women. We are dedicated to stimulating unity, growth, support, and awareness among the women of Emerson College. We encourage the growth of the individual, the sorority, and the Emerson College community via workshops and activities held throughout the year.

Zeta Phi Eta

Zeta Phi Eta, established at Emerson College in 1908, is a National Professional Co-ed Fraternity in the Communication Arts and Sciences. Founded in 1893, Zeta Phi Eta is the oldest national group of its kind. Zeta has bonded together individuals committed to high standards in the communication arts and sciences, while providing opportunities for sharing professional interests through worthwhile activities. The sisters and brothers of Zeta Phi Eta are strongly involved with the campus community, in addition to working with many outside organizations such as the AIDS Action Committee and the American Cancer Society through their "Cue for a Cure" and "Bowl for a Cure" events.

For Your Eyes Only

Events at Emerson College

The OLs With the Golden Carts

This is how it all began. New students at Emerson started to bond right away during Fall Orientation 2006 "Where it all Begins at Go!". Trained Orientation Leaders greeted new students with shouts of joy, even when it poured buckets outside. The new freshman and transfer students got treated right as OLs worked hard to move them and all their belongings into the residence halls. They had the next week to enjoy their new homes, meet other new students and bond; making friendships that will last for four amazing years.

When asked what the one thing was that she wished she had known as a new student, Core Staff Chair, Abigail Lapham, said, "Your time here will FLY by! Getting involved with extra-curricular activities will help you meet new people and learn many things a classroom will never be able to teach you!"

Above: Tom, Andy, Dmitry, and Paul are four of the coolest OLs at the cruise... or they're possibly here for security reasons? Nice shades guys!

Right: Orientation Leaders love to pose for pictures! And they're all so photogenic!

The Boat Cruise

One of the loudest and most fun nights of Orientation, the Boat Cruise has been a tradition for years. This year students dressed with more flare than ever to dance the night away on the Boston Harbor. The cruise was a chance for students to get to know one another away from school and to see how creative everyone can be. Orientation Leaders let down their hair and joined the new students at this giant welcome party. It was a night that most students will remember throughout their four years at school.

Above: The festivities don't wait for the water. Orientation Leaders mix it up with the new students on the dance floor.

Right: OLs show us their hot outfits and a little attitude.

Dragtoberfest 2006

How do they rank?

Queens/Kings of Dragtoberfest:

Katie Mueller and Laura Sisskin - "Car Wash"

First Runner Up:

The Hollywood Ho's: Jared Jacobs, Ryan Fluery,
Jeremy Salven, and Kyle Rainey - "A Public Affair"

Second Runner Up: A Tie!

Kate McDonough - "Chick on My Tip"

Rik Haber - "Bad Babysitter"

While on Her Majesty's Secret Service, I happened to stake out one of Emerson's most popular events of the fall semester. Emerson's Annual Dragtoberfest packed the Semel Theatre in the Performing Arts Center on Friday, October 13, 2006. The show opened with a fabulous performance by students from the show Cabaret. The show was hosted by the delicious diva Kyree Miller. The reigning Queen of Dragtoberfest, Michael Lucey, acted as a special guest judge. This event was sponsored by EAGLE and kicked off Emerson's Diversity Week. And they certainly opened things with a bang!

Left: Host of Dragtoberfest, and Mistress of Ceremonies, Kyree, shows off one of many outfits for the evening. She certainly charmed the audience.

Reunite!

Family Weekend

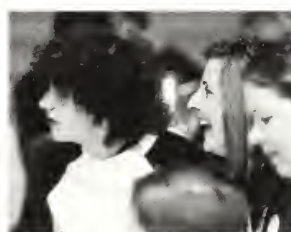

2006

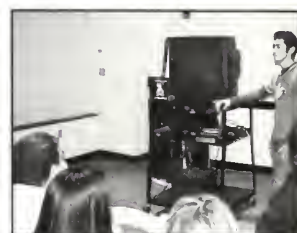

Reunite Emerson College! Family Weekend 2006 kicked off on Friday, October 20th with a Meet and Greet in the Bill Bordy Theatre. Guests were thrilled by funky caricature artists and fun celebrity photos. Saturday the 21st began with a Welcome Breakfast and speeches by Student Leader of the Year, Stephanie Lynch, Parent Speaker, Deborah O'Donnell, and Faculty Speaker, Pamela Painter. Families were then whisked off to a day of activities including Life In and Outside of the Classroom sessions, a sold-out Dessert Reception, and a musical review where Emerson students performed for a packed house in the Cutler Majestic Theatre. Sunday the 22nd finished off with the President's Breakfast. Families enjoyed a sit-down breakfast while they listened to speeches from President Liebergott, and the head of the Parents Council. Emerson's "Family Reunion" was one of the most successful in recent Family Weekend history with record number of families attending and many sold out events.

Families are Forever

Equity Fights AIDS Week 2006

Emerson students take action in many different ways. One of the most positive events of the year was Equity Fights AIDS Week, run by the Musical Theater Society. This organization brought together students from all walks of life to help raise money and awareness for the AIDS pandemic. Funds raised will go toward looking for a cure for the disease and will help those who suffer from it. During the week, MTS sponsored a Trivia Night, volunteer efforts at a local soup kitchen, and a Gala with a performance by the members of the Society. There was also a candlelight ceremony held on World AIDS Day, which the group helped to publicize for. It was a week to remember.

Free For the Weekend is a great Emerson tradition. This year's theme "Studio 80 on the Sunset Common" featured many fun, substance free events, including No-Booza-Palooza (comedy night), a foosball tournament, baby-clothes decorating for local hospitals, psychic readings, a trivia night, an open-mic night, and a wrap-up celebration. Students came out in force to enjoy their weekend together.

CASINO ROYALE: Casino Night 2007

merson's Casino Night 2007 occurred this year on March 21, at the Courtyard Marriott Hotel. Tables were filled with students playing poker, blackjack, and bingo, along with craps and roulette. Presented by the Student Government Association and the Supreme Government of the the Class of 2010, Casino Night boasted free food and a live DJ from WECB. Students were given a voucher for free chips upon entering the ballroom and could play to win more chips which were cashed in at the end of the night for tickets to the fabulous prize drawing. Prizes included everything from food baskets and gift certificates, to a vacuum or a speaker system for an iPod.

This event also supported a great cause where students were encouraged to bring in donations of non-perishable food items, which would be donated to the Women's Lunch Place, a day-time community for poor and homeless women and children in Boston.

Casino Night was a huge success with several hundred students in attendance, and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. Above, students get excited as they count out their chips and await the prize drawings. Seniors lamented that this was their last Casino Night, while freshmen got excited at seeing what next year's event would bring. At right, junior class president, Jay MacFadgen hordes his dealer chips, and sophomore Sammie Baime shows off her blackjack. This is one Emerson tradition that won't be going away anytime soon.

"Look at the Stars, Look How they Shine for You", was the theme of this year's Hand Me Down Night dinner and dance. And they did shine for more than 300 students who were in attendance at the event. Emersonians gathered to enjoy some great food and entertainment, as well as to receive awards for their services to their organizations. Outgoing officers accepted their plaques and everyone awaited the awarding of the Student of the Year, junior Jay MacFadgen, Advisor of the Year, Heather Flynn for Imagine, and Organization of the Year, EIV. Other awards and scholarships that were handed out included Greek of the Year, senior Meredith McCoy, Emersonian of the Year, senior Kerry O'Donnell, Visionary of the Year, sophomore Erika Rydberg, and the Isabel Sanford Scholarship went to junior Saiyda Shabazz. After all the awards, everyone enjoyed their dessert while listening to Noteworthy perform three of their great songs and then the DJs from WECB took over and students got to rock out on the dance floor. All in all, it was a night to remember.

HAND ME DOWN NIGHT 2007

Flomotive //

Flomotive is a cultural carnival that has become an annual event at Emerson, full of food, art, and entertainment for students both on and off campus. Sponsored by SGA and run by a committee put together by the student government, this year's Flomotive featured food from all over the city of Boston, a show put on by the Trivani School of Dance, free t-shirts, a prize giveaway, music by several prominent Boston DJs and a Swedish music group from Berkley School of Music.

This event hosted over 250 students all of whom were amazed and excited by all the interesting things being offered to them. One of the main motivations for putting on an event like Flomotive is to introduce students to the different things Boston has to offer the school. If students don't get a chance to venture out to far in the city, and Flomotive brings the city to them. After the event, students may be more likely to go out and explore, discovering new restaurants, clubs and art.

The 27th Annual EVVY Awards were held on May 12, 2007 in the Cutler Majestic Theater. Separated into an afternoon and evening show, this is the largest student run awards program in the country. cameras, or setting up the stage, or performing during the ceremonies, these students put their heart and soul into their work. The students who submit their work for the awards do much the same, and this year had many first-time winners, all of whom were excited and humbled by the recognition of the industries.

This year's senior class is full of sass and fire. In our four years here we have done much and said more.
We eagerly await the next changes

Right: Students from the Class of 2007 gather as the music gets going.

The 2007 Senior Send-Off was held at Fajitas & Ritas on Wednesday December 6, 2006. This event was put together by the senior class council as a means to give the class a chance to say goodbye to all the seniors who were graduating early and/or going out to LA for their final semester. Over 100 students showed up to say goodbye to their friends. The night was full of great music, dancing, food, and good memories, as the Class of 2007 knows how to throw a farewell bash to be remembered.

Senior

Week 2007

Senior Week 2007, "Imagine the Places You'll Go" began on May 7, 2007 with an Information Session and Faculty Farewell Reception, where seniors gathered all the things they needed about the upcoming graduation and had a chance to say goodbye to the faculty and staff who helped them all so much over the last four years. Then, Tuesday, May 8th more than 150 seniors danced the night away at the Veronique Semi-Formal, DJ'd by Eric Kuhr. Wednesday the 9th was a karaoke fest at Limelight where students braved the stage and each other's voices in an evening of good fun and interesting music.

Imagine the

The senior class council chose this theme because they wanted the class to imagine how much fun they would have at all the events this week, and because they knew seniors would be thinking of all the great places they will visit after leaving Emerson. Thursday, May 10th over 200 seniors attended our celebrations at Jillian's for some pool and great food. Friday the 11th was our trip to Fenway Park to watch the Red Sox play the Orioles. They lost, but more than 100 students from Emerson enjoyed an interesting game. Overall, the week was full of excitement and some incredible memories.

Places You'll Go

Tomorrow Never Dies

The 2007 Undergraduate Commencement at Emerson College

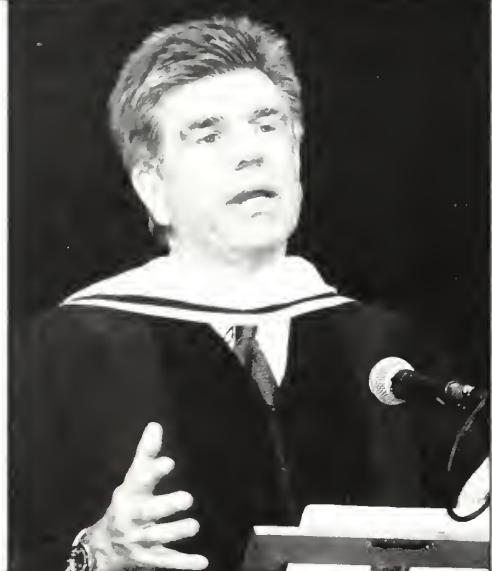

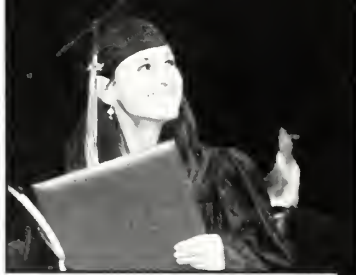

"Commencement"... "Graduation"... "A new beginning"... "Moving on"... "A new 'phase' of our lives"... All code for the same underlying meaning: it's time to get a job. With the exception of those happy few who will be continuing on in the world of academia, this is the time when job searching looms over the heads of the senior class. While we are rewriting resumes and practicing for interviews, commencement throws the past four years into sharp focus along with all of our accomplishments and the skills we've gained. It's only natural to feel slightly apprehensive, leaving our comfort zones behind. We'll be okay. All we have to do is bring everything we've got to the table and let the chips fall where they may. In the meantime, we'll celebrate those achievements of the past four years here. We'll laugh, cry, and talk incessantly about the things we'll miss when we're gone from our Alma Mater.

Commencement 2007

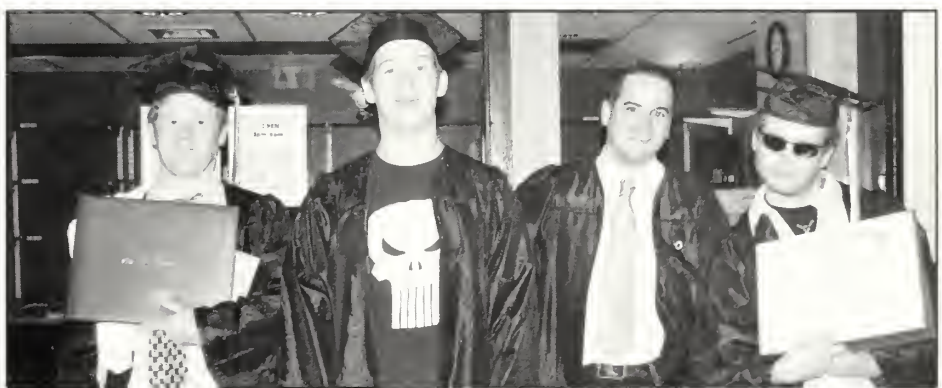

"Follow Your Bliss"

Commencement is also a time when we reflect with friends on our best and worst memories, and we figure out what we're going to do to, "Follow [our] bliss" as commencement speaker Tom Freston proposed during the graduation ceremonies. Whether we are staying in Boston, or taking off for work in LA, New York or wherever in the world it is our "bliss" takes us, we have to stop for a moment to take in all that we've already done. To remember all the people we met and befriended, all the places we went while studying here in school. Some of us explored the city to its fullest, and many of us ventured beyond, traveling all over New England or out to LA and the Netherlands. Some enjoyed just staying in the city and spending time with friends. Those memories are worth lingering over a few more times before we take those next steps into our futures.

It has to be said, most students at Emerson would not have made it through the past four years without the support of their

We are so proud of you! Mom & Dad

Nimi- My n00b janice, our webcam & voice clip convos, late night talks with grapefruit juice and chips/salsa, unmentionably incidents, peace, janisha...meeting you has been the best thing that has happened to me at Emerson. best of luck in LA. keep in touch always :-) love you. xx Kim- Janiceball of joy energy and LOVE! I am so thankful to have spent time with an awesome chicka like you - the adventures are not over my dear friend - I Love you loooooong time! Rich-Thanks for the awesome memories, i'm sure they won't be the last. I hope to see you out in LA. Remember we need to do our show! Takecare, this is not a goodbye but a see you later. Lauren Hey, Suessel! So glad I met another fellow German at Emerson! Hab Dich ganz super, tolle hab. What would I do without you in my life and your crazy self? Wunsch Dir viel Erfolg mit deiner Karriere und wir sehen uns in LA! Bussi xx! Cakes-Janice my love, we're gonna have huge phone bills next year! You made my life complete for one year, and I will never ever forget you and your craziness. Cheers to having the life you've always wanted :) Katie- I'm glad we became friends and I'm going to miss you and so is Heidi. Luv Kt

Katherine J. McDonough, 2007

Give every person thy ear, but few thy voice;
Take each person's censure,
but reserve thy judgment.

Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,
But not express'd in fancy; rich, not gaudy;
For the apparel oft proclaims the person,

Neither a borrower nor a lender be;
For loan oft loses both itself and friend,
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.

This above all: to thine ownself be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any soul.

Farewell, dear Kate:
your Mother's and AB's blessing season this in thee!

Adapted from W. Shakespeare's Hamlet
Act 1, Scene 3

Congratulations Katherine on your graduation.
Your creative spirit, your hard work and your dedication to justice are an inspiration to me.
All the best. Love Dad.

CONGRATULATIONS
MATT SILVERMAN!!!

WE ARE ALL SO PROUD OF YOU.

LOVE YOU,

MOM, DAD, RACHEL & MIKE

Cassandra,

We have watched with pride as you drive, you focus, and your perseverance have enabled you to accomplish so many things. We are so proud of the person you have become. As you go on to the next phase of your life, always remember how much we love you, and that we will always be here for you.

Love

Mom, Dad, Natalie & Kelly

Heather,

May your bright and caring personality help guide you to a life of fulfillment and happiness. We love you and are so proud of you. Congratulations on your graduation!

Love,

Mom, Dad, Allie and Jon

Dear Shannon,

Life is but a series of opportunities . . . chances to choose our path and create our own future. In other words, you "write" the story of your own life. From your first visit to Boston, we've watched you steadily develop your plot and cast of characters. Like your actual writing style, you have allowed your character to write this story. We've enjoyed watching the heroine of this tale grow into such an organized, confident and independent young woman. Just like an avid reader can't wait to see how a chapter develops, there is always that sense of sadness when you have to finish the book. But how wonderful to see the short excerpt of the next chapter and know that what follows may be the author's best work yet.

Be proud of what you have accomplished. We have always been proud of you, but never more proud than as we see you realize the culmination of the dream that was Emerson. Keep making your own path and continue to have courage to take the detours. Know that we're always here whenever you need a "rest stop" on your journey.

Love you always and forever,
Mom and Dad

Gillian,

It has been an incredible journey from your first day of school to your last.
I am so proud of you.

Love,
Mom

Dear Mysel,

We are so proud of your accomplishments and your choice to follow your passion of acting, singing and dance. As you went off to college in 2003 we sang you this song and we will sing it again as you graduate in 2007.

And the seasons they go round and round
And the painted ponies go up and down
We're captive on a carousel of time
We can't return, we can only look
Behind from where we came
And go round and round in the circle game

We love you and believe in your dreams
Mom, Davey Boy, Erin-Kate, Dad and Clara

Congratulations Roger!

Dear Nick

Congratulations and good luck in your future.
Hope you can always follow your dream and live
your creative life with passion.
We are all so proud of you and all your projects.
Can't wait for you to treat me to dinner with

To my son Nicholas: On My Letting Go

21 years ago when you were in such a rush to come into this world that you arrived 2 months early, I looked into your eyes and knew at that moment I wanted to give you the world. As I get ready to watch you walk down the aisle to receive your college diploma, I can hardly believe that you are all grown up. So now that I am looking up into your eyes, I must say "I give YOU to the world."

Please know that you have made me so very proud. You have brought nothing but joy and laughter to us all and I am so eager to see what the world has in store for you.

Keep going through life with that great big smile and charismatic way and the world will be a better place for having had you in it.

Heather Sweetie,

We are so proud of the young woman you have become. Through all the toil and trouble you have persisted, and have set a great example to follow.

We miss you everyday and often wonder where that little girl with the big blue eyes has gone.

We hope you land the perfect job, but not too far away so we can still be a close family.

Love and all the best,
Dad, Mom, Krissy, and Ste

Love Mom and Payton

May God bless and keep you always,
May your wishes all come true,
May you always do for others
And let other do for you.
May you build a ladder to the stars
And climb on every rung,
May you stay forever young...

May you grow up to be righteous,
May you grow up to be true,
May you always know the truth
And see the lights surrounding you.
May you always be courageous,
Stand upright and be strong,
May you stay forever young...

May your hands always be busy,
May your feet always be swift,
May you have a strong foundation
When the winds of changes shift.
May your heart always be joyful,
May your song always be sung,
May you stay forever young...

Dear Becky (Becca, Rebekah, Rebecca),
Congratulations! We are so proud of you in so many ways. You have accomplished so much with your determination, drive and energy and we are sure you will carry those traits forward as you begin the next stage of your life. Always remember to keep a healthy balance of work and fun in everything you do. We wish you a life full of happiness and success.

With much, much love,
Mom, Dad and Steven

Congratulations Peter! We are so Proud!

Dear Ken,

We are so proud of you! You have done so well these past four years and we know you will continue to thrive no matter what you choose to do with your career. All of your performances were outstanding! Out of all the characters you have played over the years, Tommy Gnosis was by far the favorite; Hedwig was such an incredible play. Thanks for providing us with such great entertainment!

We love you,
Mom, Julie, Cole & Paul

Congratulations to our Girl,

You are the best!

He Aloha Mele - by Iva Kinimaka

He aloha mele, pretty hoku
Sending down a special little twinkle
For your brown eyes
Your pretty lovely brown eyes
In the still of the night
All the stars are shining bright
For your brown eyes

He aloha mele, e lolo i kamakani
Gentle breeze whispering haunting melodies
To you softly
Whisper to you softly
Hear the winds through the trees
Singing sweet harmony
To you softly

Hur
With the grace of her voice

She can tell you that a star
Only glitters at the setting of the sunshine
With the grace of her dance
She can tell you that the wind
Only blows when no mountain side
Is there to touch her

Now there's the sun and the moon
Talking stories telling tales
About a new day
It's gonna be a nice day
Now the moon is shining bright
And the sun will rise again
To start a new day

"They say it is difficult to live in the present, ridiculous to live in the future, and impossible to live in the past and that nothing is as far away as a moment ago. Just a moment ago... Standing here, now in this moment, I look around, open my eyes and realize we've ended up somewhere good."

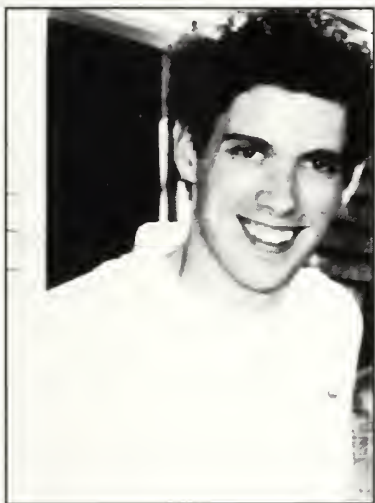

Notre Dame High School Commencement Address, Michael J. Sgrignari, June 1, 2003

Heather,

From Boylston Street to the South End, Europe to LA, it has been an incredible journey filled with endless opportunities for you, either in the classroom or the studio, or on the set or the athletic field for EC. We wish you long-lasting success and happiness as you continue to explore life's possibilities. Remember to always keep the bonds of family and friendship nearby. As always, we are filled with pride & joy at your accomplishments.

Dearest Ari,
What can we say, that we haven't said?
In print does it make it more real?

- That you are creative, witty, resourceful, bright and funny!
- That you are thoughtful, kind, caring, focused, and of course... handsome!
- You have what it takes to go where you want to go.
- To quote the Beatles' song... "There will be an answer, let it be!"
- Wishing you your heart's desire!

With all of our love,

RICHARD R. DIAZ

Dear Son,

Congratulations on your perseverance and achievements of this milestone endeavor!

Education is not only the key to success, but it is the hope that anchors your future.

Education's purpose is to replace an empty mind with an open one.

Use your opportunities wisely and seek direction from the Lord, for it is He who has carried you through this long journey.

Your parents, each family member, and friends are very proud of you, but above us all, the Lord is pleased with you too. We wish you all the best life has to offer.

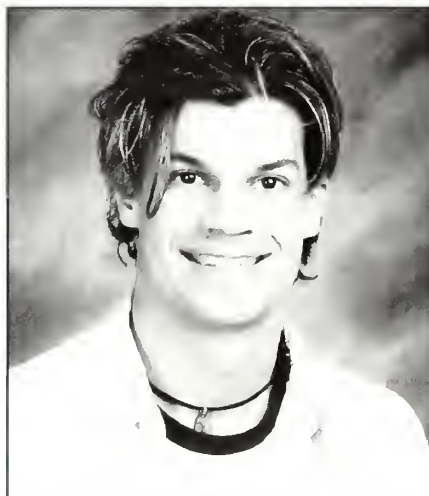

Justan E. "Stan" Garcia

You've come a long way, baby...

Dear Stan,

Congratulations! We are so very proud of you. From Cambridge to NYU to Emerson -you're a world-wide traveler and all-around great guy. You stayed with it...and even survived the Boston weather! Yes, you can be a tough customer and can drive us crazy but we love you big time, and will always be your greatest fans. We believe in you and know you will go a long way with your unwavering focus, hard work and smile.

We love you,
Mom, Dad, and Alex

P.S. Of course, we expect words of thanks from the podium when you accept your directing, producing or original screenplay award someday!!

CAITLIN EVANS BROWN

Dear Caitlin,

It is difficult to believe that your four years at Emerson have gone by so quickly. During that time you not only managed your studies but also the responsibilities of a job during your "free" time.

You have lived in the LB, the Castle, 132 and Beacon Hill. We have waited, anxiously at times, to hear from you as you explored Europe and traveled across the US. You have made great strides in personal growth and we are inspired by your dedication, creativity, sense of humor and confidence.

And last, but no less important, you have formed friendships which will endure a lifetime.

We love you and are so proud of you!

Love,

Mom, Dad and Kerry

David,

Your heart and soul have led you on a path you charted only a few years ago. You are now just beginning to realize your dreams as a result of your ambition and hard work. Stay the course, continue to learn and contribute... happiness and prosperity will follow. We are so proud of our son and brother, and all that you have accomplished. We will always be here for you,

To the Class of 2007

In the past four years we've witnessed a lot of changes at Emerson and in Boston, and it has been an exhilarating journey. Like some kind of amusement park ride, there were moments when we each found ourselves feeling like the world was upside-down, without knowing quite how it got that way. We learned early not to take any person or situation at face value, to dig deeper and explore who we are and what we were doing here.

Thinking back as a council, we wanted to remember how our years at Emerson got started, and our Senior Week theme, "Imagine the Places You'll Go" was a perfect reflection of our own first year orientation. Since that first week, we have shared some absolutely amazing moments as a class: the first Org Fair we attended, that showed us just how alive and vibrant a school we were attending, watching and celebrating as the Red Sox finally won the World Series, seeing history made as Deval Patrick was named Governor of Massachusetts, and of course, graduation. We watched classmates win awards, get involved in important political and social issues, and champion some amazing causes. We've battled for our rights and the rights of those we care about, and it hasn't always been easy.

Each year at Emerson we've encountered loss, and tragedy, making it difficult for some of us to continue. As a class we witnessed the declaration of war in Iraq, the devastation of the tsunami in Asia and Hurricane Katrina, as well as the horrible deaths of two construction workers and a passing motorist during the construction of our new Piano Row building and the massacre of 32 students at Virginia Tech. We would be remiss if we did not stop to take in all that we have seen and survived during these past years, because in spite of all the heartaches, we made it.

We thrived as a class, making a lasting impact on our campus and community. These four years have brought new programs, clubs and classes to Emerson. We've made laughter a priority and comedy has become an increasingly vital part of our school, with workshops and festivals hosted by alumni and seasoned veterans in the world of stand-up. We are making films, plays, TV shows and prose that are celebrated by the people in our respective professional fields.

"Imagine the Places You'll Go." We're asking you to go far, and dream big, which is probably close to what your family and friends and the college have been saying to you during the past months leading up to graduation, and probably after. But, given time -- and probably a bit of help -- we're sure to reach our respective destinations.

We wish everyone the best of luck and all the success you can possibly achieve. Remember to continue to be loud, passionate, and caring, as you have always been during your time here. And don't forget our first Class of '07 motto: Shaken, not Stirred. It is important to make yourself and your opinions known and impact the world in the biggest possible way.

Your Class Council and Officers:

Michael Lucey, Dunja Simunovic, Kerry O'Donnell, Jen Boyden, Brian McGackin, Matt Vuolo, Sarah Cadieux, Cricket Demasi, Jules Butler, Lisa Dimick, Courtney Salmon, and Stephanie Bilet

Tomorrow Never Dies

Thanks:

There were a few times this year when I wasn't sure how I would be able to finish this book. Putting something like this together takes so much effort, and I don't think a lot of people realize how much of a process it is. Fortunately, I have a lot of amazing friends, who were a huge help to me. I have to start off by thanking the publishers, Herff Jones, and more specifically my rep, John Carrier, for all the advice and talking me down from many a panic session. I learned so much from working with you. A most hearty thanks goes out to my advisor, Sara Sheckells for all the help you gave me, checking pages and proofs, and for your guidance. You gave me exactly what I needed. And thanks to Sharon Duffy, for your help when Sara was away on maternity leave. I also need to mention the other staffers, Sammie Baime, our photo editor and Megan Cooper, the layout editor, because you both saved my skin at one time or other this year. Your dedication is so appreciated. Alia Hamada and Claire Jeffers created this idea with me, and I hope I've made you proud. Thanks to Steve Klise and Andi Rothwell for your help with the sports photos, they were brilliant! To next year's staff, I wish you good luck, especially Jeff, because you're going to need it!

The Concept:

The theme for this year, "007: Bonds that Unite", began as an idea between myself and, then advisor, Jeff Scott, during a yearbook camp last summer. In our brainstorming session, we wanted to give the book a theme that connected with the students on many levels. We liked 007 because it's not only a huge film and pop culture reference that students and families would recognize, it is also a theme that the senior class has used since freshman year; "Shaken Not Stirred." It is something we could identify with because the class of 2007 was never a passive group of people. The idea of using a film theme also appealed to us because we are a school of communication and art, and film is such a large part of Emerson's community. We found so many ways that this theme could be adopted, and you might have noticed each Bond title in one form or another throughout the book. Lastly, the theme "Bonds that Unite" formed a fun play-on-words. Of all the amazing things I've learned while at Emerson, I've found it's the bonds I've developed—with friends, family, advisors, professors, and staff—that made these past four years worthwhile.

And speaking of those people, I have to say thanks to my family and friends. To my Mum and Dad, I hope you now understand why I had to put off my job search right away, and thanks for the encouragement and advice when I needed it (and when I didn't). To my sisters, David, and the rest of the family; I love you all and appreciate all your support this year. To my wonderful friends, thank-you so much for putting up with all my pleas for photos and responding to the bizarre questions I needed answers to. Thanks for being there through everything, and listening to my complaints. I hope you know that this book is for you. I hope you, and everyone else, enjoy it!
